We expected for yesterday some downward moves from 9.760... unfortunately it didn't happened (so a SHORT would have been close with 80-90 points lost – STOP LOSS of course above 9.850)... Hopefully, after that DOW brooked our resistance and went directly to next one from 10.000!! A LONG for at least 100 points should have been open, exactly like we said: "Now we have a strong and re-confirmed resistance at 9.850...try long trades only above it." In the end a breakeven day...
